

Just Ask

RUTGERS SASHP NEWSLETTER

Wednesday, March 9, 2022

Dear SAS Honors Program Students,

Something I struggled with for so much of college was admitting to myself that I needed to ask the professor for help on class material. Fortunately, one Calc class later this all changed, but what I'm trying to say is that I totally understand how pride can sometimes get in the way of learning. So, in honor of the ongoing midterm season, don't be shy to send your professors or TAs an email if the material isn't clicking, it just might help your grade!

If you want some non-class material to review first, feel free to browse through some of these upcoming events/announcements. Thinking about your honors capstone? Try out the BRAND NEW capstone opportunity: Career Lab! Rep the Honors Program and feel good about doing it by signing up for the Scarlet Day of Service with the SASHP Team. Learn the ins and outs of storytelling from veteran journalist and author Heather Cabot at the upcoming Scarlet Speakers Presentation.

Warm Regards,
Justin Confalone
Your newsletter editor

In this Newsletter:

- *Career Lab Capstone Opportunity
- *Scarlet Day of Service
- *Scarlet Speakers: Finding the Story

**Correction: The Peer Mentor application deadline is Sun, Mar 27, and not Sun, Apr 3 as previously reported*

SASHP Newsletter

Events/Announcements

Career Lab Capstone Option

Rising seniors thinking about their capstone should consider Career Lab, a brand new capstone opportunity for SASHP students. Career Lab will host two projects at Johnson & Johnson in New Brunswick. In fall 2022, the two Career Lab Scholars will be on-site at J&J for 9-10 hours per week, earning three internship credits and a $2000 award upon successful completion of project deliverables. In spring 2023, the scholars will then undertake a 3-credit independent study with a Rutgers faculty member to examine a scholarly question that emerges from the project. They will then present this material. Applications are due Fri, Mar 25. For more info, contact Dean Keeton (honorsdean@sas.rutgers.edu).

Scarlet Day of Service

Do some good by joining the Peer Mentor Program as they lead the SASHP team at the upcoming Scarlet Day of Service. This event, running from 8:45 am to 5 pm on Sat, Mar 26, gives students an excellent opportunity to meet fellow SASHP members. The deadline to register for the SASHP team is 1 pm EST on Thurs, Mar 10. Students must fill out two forms: first register individually here then fill out the team application form here.

Scarlet Speakers: Finding the Story

Veteran journalist and author Heather Cabot started her career in local TV news at the dawn of the internet and surfed the wave of digital disruption into a whole new world of 24/7 content creation. Learn about the craft of gathering then telling a story from one of the best at the upcoming Scarlet Speakers Presentation: Finding the Story. This event takes place Tues, Mar 15 at 12 PM EST. Register here.

Follow Us!

@RutgersSASHP

@RUSASHP

rutgershonorsblog.wordpress.com

SAS Honors

@RU_SASHP