Monday, March 27, 2023

Dear SAS Honors Program Students,

When I need to replenish my food supply, I order via the delivery service, Instacart. This is partially because I have yet to obtain my drivers' license at the ripe age of 22 (a story for another newsletter), but mostly because I can never spare the time for a trip to the store. Convenience and efficiency is the name of the game when you're a full-time college student. With a few swipes and a click of a button, I can have everything I need right in my apartment lobby. Or at least that's the idea. The other day, the person delivering my Instacart order left all of my groceries in the downstairs lobby of my apartment... loose. My matcha, eggs, and other produce were all sitting on the ground, with not a bag in sight. Now, I had two options: 1.) take the elevator back upstairs and grab a few of my many tote bags, or 2.) balance every single item in an artful yet precarious pile and hand-carry it to my apartment. Based on this newsletter's title, you can probably guess what I chose. And while I may have saved time by straining myself to bring it all upstairs in one shot, I caused myself a lot of unnecessary mental stress as I hobbled down the hallway trying not to drop and break my eggs. Take this as a sort of parable for work and school this week. Know when you've got to put something down to keep your mental health intact. In that vein, I'm proud to say that I swallowed pride and requested an extension on an assignment for the first time in my college career! Lesson learned.

Here's a few fun things coming up soon! Attend a murder mystery party! Scrapbook or spring into service with the PMP! Tune into the Bloustein Honors Research Program info session. Apply for an Investment Management Summer Program

Warmest Regards,
Noa DeOcampo
Your Newsletter Editor
Murder Mystery Party

You have been cordially invited to a Murder Mystery Party hosted by the Honors Peer Leader At-Large THIS Wednesday, March 29 @ 1 PM. Dust off your detective skills and channel your inner Poirot by helping solve the murder mystery party box in the SASHP Parlor at 35 College Ave. Space is limited, so RSVP for the event ahead of time here!

Sweet Sweet Memories: Scrapbooking Night

On Thursday, April 20 @ 6:30 PM, the Peer Mentor Program will be hosting their penultimate event of the semester! Join them in the Red Lion Cafe at the College Ave Student Center for Scrapbooking Night, where you can decorate scrapbooks while sipping on boba! If you're interested, be sure to RSVP here by Wednesday, April 12.

 This event is only open to students in the Peer Mentor Program

Spring Into Service

Give back to the community with the Peer Mentor Program at the Spring Into Service event THIS Thursday, March 30, from 6:30 - 7:30 PM. Join them in Hardenbergh Hall (Room B3) to paint kindness rocks and make utensil bundles to donate to Elijah's Promise, an organization that "harnesses the power of food to break the cycle of poverty, alleviate hunger, and change lives."

 This event is open to all SASHP students
Geek Week 2023

Geek Week is BACK! From March 27-31 for a week of celebrating all things “geeky!” Join in this annual week of events dedicated to helping students find community, be accepted, and gain exposure to non-familiar topics and experiences in geek culture. From a Trivial Tournament to a movie premiere to the annual Late Knight: Geek Week Finale party, there's lot's to geek out about. Learn more and see the full schedule of events here.

'23-'24 Bloustein Honors Research Program

The Bloustein Honors Research Program is a year-long program which helps students "develop their research skills and test out their interests in research careers while providing valuable perspectives on many of the social and health issues." Learn more about the program at the upcoming info session TODAY, March 27 @ 2 PM. Register here.

2023 Investment Management Summer Analyst Application

Nomura is a "global financial services group with an integrated network spanning over 30 countries." Apply for their 10-week-long Investment Management Summer Analyst Program, during which analysts will "enjoy extensive contact with Nomura professionals at all levels through discussion groups, seminars and informal social functions." Learn more about this summer opportunity or apply today here.