Monday, April 1, 2024

Dear SAS Honors Program Students,

I have been pondering how to write this newsletter. Part of me thinks it has to be perfect and the other part just doesn’t want to believe that this will be my last one. Due to circumstances that I am unable to disclose, I won’t be continuing as the Newsletter Editor of SASHP, but I want to thank everyone for following along these past two semesters and listening to my rambling. This position has meant so much to me, and I am equally saddened and ready to pass it on to someone else, like my predecessor did to me. Before I sign off though, I have one more thing to say—April Fools!

Did you think you would be rid of me that easily? Nope, and I bring many events! Enjoy a McCormick Movie Night. Attend International Children’s Book Day. Learn about the The Conversation Tree program. Read the new blog post!

Warmest regards,
Halima Niazi
(Still) Your Newsletter Editor
EVENTS & ANNOUNCEMENTS

McCormick Movie Night

Join the HPL in McCormick today at 7:30 PM in McCormick MPR for a movie night featuring the film, Inside Out. Popcorn and snacks will be served. This event is open to all SASHP and counts as an Honors Colloquium outside event.

International Children's Book Day

Alexander Library is hosting a local event on April 2 to celebrate International Children’s Book Day! It will feature people reading stories in their original languages, often accompanied by pictures, as well as some culturally-relevant performances. Learn more about the program here.

The Conversation Tree

Brought to you by the Graduate School of Education, The Conversation Tree is a program that prepares students as conversation facilitators and places them in community sites that offer Conversation Cafés, where community members who are new to English join to practice language. Students can join for a fall three-credit course and may continue in spring. For those interested in the fall community-engaged programming, there are information sessions on Tuesday and Thursday this week via Zoom.
Applications for the Summer 2024 ICECREAM (Intra-College Experience in Creative Research in Experimental and Applied Microbiomics) under the Rutgers University Microbiome Program are now open. Undergraduate students will obtain intensive mentored experience in lab research related to microbiome science for a total of 8 weeks, from June 12 to August 7. Apply here by April 19.

Writing Center Research Study Internship

The Rutgers Writing Centers are recruiting for their fall 2024 internship, Writing Center Research Study. This 3-credit course is open to all students interested in learning how to craft a social science research project. In the course, students will conduct a small-scale research study to assess general center health and efficacy and develop a preliminary written and oral history of their centers. Scan the QR code in the flyer to apply.

ICECREAM 2024

If you couldn’t attend the Winter Formal, don’t worry! Kayla Gonzales wrote an incredible article, “Dance The Night Away,” all about it. From the preparation to the decorations to the activities, Kayla covers it all. After you read, you are sure to attend the next formal.

EVENTS & ANNOUNCEMENTS

New Blog Post!

To apply, scan the QR code above.

(355.395.01) W4 2:00 - 3:20pm, MU-302 (CAC)
Professors Carla Caponegro & Sara Ferrym

This internship is a 3-credit course open to all students interested in learning how to craft a social science research project from start to finish. If you are curious about research design, interdisciplinary methods, field work, collection of data, analysis of primary and secondary sources, and summarizing evaluation, this course is for you.

Our study aims to explore tutor wellness and tutor experience of our Writing Centers. In addition, we will conduct a written and oral history of our centers to feature on our website.

Follow Us!

To apply, scan the QR code above.