

More human than human

RUTGERS SASHP NEWSLETTER

Monday, January 29, 2018

Dear School of Arts and Sciences Honors Program Students,

I've seen things you people wouldn't believe. LXs at 6PM overflowing with harried undergrads. Orgo office hours with standing room only. Rutgers students trekking to help out at the New Brunswick Public Library. So many events and opportunities that I didn't think I could take part in. And I've learned so much from all of it. But I'll be graduating soon and all those moments will be lost in time, like tears in rain.

If only you could see what I've seen with your eyes! You would rush to the Late Night Breakfast in McCormick this Thursday. You'd take the stage at the Artists' Collective Coffeehouse to sing one of the songs from Godspell in preparation for the Livingston Theater Company's production of that very musical. You would be looking for the perfect gown for our noir themed Winter Formal and read about Nishita's New Years Resolutions on the SASHP blog. You would take advantage of every chance to grow college had to offer.

Still don't take on too much. Remember, the light that burns twice as bright burns half as long. And while if you do all these things you will have burned so very brightly, you'll also miss future opportunities to do even more. So take the opportunities to grow, to learn to be more human than human, but also don't do too much.

Wake up, time to grow,

Kim Peterman

Student Director of Honors Media

In this Newsletter

Honors Events & Tips p. 2

Late Night Breakfast

Advising Tip of the Week

Honors Events p. 3

Artists' Collective Coffeehouse

Livingston Theater
Company's "Godspell"

Honors Opportunities p. 4

Senior Spotlight

Be a H.I.P.ster

Winter Formal Tickets

Looking for something to do?

Fill your free hours and hang out with friends by checking out these sites for cool opportunities::

ruevents.rutgers.edu

<https://newbrunswick.rutgers.edu/campus-life/student-activities>

SASHP Newsletter

Honors Events and Advising

SAS Honors Program Late Night Breakfast

Who doesn't love breakfast? Really you should be able to get it at any time of the day. Come to McCormick Lounge on Busch to enjoy the most important meal of the day at night. Meet new people and enjoy pancakes, bacon, scrambled eggs, coffee, muffins, and more!

Date: Thursday, February 01, 2018, 10:00-11:00PM

Place: McCormick Hall Lounge

Contact: sashp.mccormick@gmail.com

Advising Tip of The Week

Now that your schedule is finalized and extracurriculars are underway, take the time now to plan out your social engagements. See when your friends and family are free, what events are happening and save the date now so that you're guaranteed to have some balance, even when your workload is heaviest.

SASHP Newsletter

Honors Events

Artists' Collective Coffeehouse

Have something to say? A performance you just can't keep to yourself? Share your creative voice with the world.

Come out to the Artists' Collective's first coffeehouse of the year and bring your music, poetry, performance art, and what have you! There will be snacks and everyone is welcome

Date: Thursday February 1, 2018, 8-10PM

Place: 35 College Ave

Godspell

Take a break from the day by day at the Livingston Theater Company's Production of Godspell. Prepare ye the way for great music with this trippy take on the parables from the Gospel of Matthew, hitting the Rutgers' stage.

Date: Thursday, February 15, 2018
8:00PM

Place: Livingston hall, Livingston student center

To reserve your complimentary ticket please e-mail: knagy@sas.rutgers.edu

SASHP Newsletter

Honors Opportunities

Senior Spotlight

Read about graduating senior Ankita Veta's college experience by clicking on the photo. Discover her interests, activities, and wisdom in the second entry in our Senior Spotlight Series.

Are you a senior who wants to share your story? Apply here. Applicants will also be considered for Speaker at the Senior Brunch.

H.I.Pster

Take over the Honors Instagram for a week and make it all about you as one of our Honors Instagram Posters (H.I.P.sters). Show off your favorite clubs, classes, hangouts, and more in this new role. Applicants will be interviewed and are expected to post 5 pictures over the course of a week.

Get your tickets here!

Ever get that feeling? You know, the one you get sitting alone in your office late at night while pouring over evidence from your latest case? We do. And we're embracing it at our third annual Winter Formal on February 17 from 6:30-10:30PM. Tickets are available here and on Facebook.

