A Little Thought Makes All The Difference

RUTGERS SASHP NEWSLETTER

Wednesday, March 28, 2018

Dear SAS Honors Program Students,

Today is going to be a good day. Even in college, which can sometimes seem like a chaotic place with strange characters (and circumstances that could literally blow you away). But it’s still always important to consider the needs of others even as we go through our day, whether it’s climbing a tree to get a certain bear some honey, it’s pinning a tail back on, or scaring off a Heffalump. Thankfully, this week we have a bunch of events and opportunities to help you do just that.

Donate your time to help the community with Project Night Night and Rutgers Scarlet Day of Service. See how others helped their community in the film “Bending the Arc” and how to spend a career helping others through public health at the School of Nursing’s lecture by Gina Miranda-Diaz. Gain experiences while supporting others by interning with Give Where You Live or volunteering at Commencement.

Even as you give back to others, remember it’s ok to make mistakes as you go about your day-to-day. As Raaga writes on the SASHP blog, we don’t need to be perfect. If you find yourself becoming insecure because of your imperfections remember you’re braver than you believe, you’re stronger than you seem, and you’re smarter than you think.

Happy Windsday, Y’all!
Kim Peterman and Julianna Rossano
Student Directors of Honors Media

In this Newsletter
Campus Events p. 2-3
Project Night Night
Rutgers Scarlet Day of Service
Rutgers School of Nursing-Last Lecture Series
Bending the Arc Film Screening

Campus Opportunities p. 4
Give Where You Live Internships
Volunteer for Class of 2018 Commencement

Brother, Can You Spare Some Time?
Want to rack up service hours but don’t know where to begin? Start by searching through the program directory at community.rutgers.edu/programs-services/program-directory/a-z.

RUTGERS School of Arts and Sciences Honors Program
Project Night Night

Give back to your community at Project Night Night! Join the Rutgers Off-Campus Living and Community Partnerships Office as they pack bags to donate to homeless children which include blankets, books, and other essentials. The event will take place tonight, Mar. 28, at 8-10 PM at 39 Union Street on College Avenue Campus.

Rutgers Scarlet Day of Service

Get to know the wider New Brunswick community by volunteering in Scarlet Day of Service. Engage in service on Sat., Apr. 21 by traveling to locations across New Brunswick and Central Jersey, completing service projects and making meaningful connections. Register here.
Rutgers School of Nursing - Last Lecture Series
Are you interested in public health? Come to a lecture by Gina Miranda-Diaz, director of the West New York & Guttenberg Health Departments, hosted by the School of Nursing. She is known for her culturally appropriate approaches to health and wellness. The lecture is at 11:30 AM-12:30 PM on Apr. 9 at the New Jersey Health Foundation Building.

“Bending the Arc” Film Screening
Come see a movie about real-life superheroes! After seeing their Haitian community ravaged by tuberculosis and HIV/AIDS, three teenagers band together to build health clinics to treat their friends and neighbors in this film based on a true story. Presented by Rutgers Global Health Institute, the film will screen at 8-10 PM on Mar. 28 in Livingston Hall in the Livingston Student Center.
Give Where You Live Internships
Gain valuable leadership experience while you give back to your community by becoming a Give Where You Live Intern. Interns aim to foster social responsibility and learn through community partnerships. Apply online at https://bit.ly/GWYLintern by Mar. 30.

Volunteer for 2018 Commencement
Support graduating seniors and hear a once-in-a-lifetime speech! Help a very special day run smoothly by volunteering at the 2018 University Commencement. Free food and a free shirt also included. Register here. A few hours of your help will make a big difference!