Go with the Flow

RUTGERS SASHP NEWSLETTER

Wednesday, October 17, 2018

Dear SAS Honors Program Students,

Every once in a while, life throws you a curveball. Whether it’s something small like your dinner plans falling apart or a serious issue, you can move past it. Take a moment to collect yourself, pick up the pieces, and make a new plan. After all, a series of small annoyances and misfortunes might lead you to an unexpected opportunity.

Refresh your personal library by attending the Artists Collective Book Swap. Enjoy performances at the Artists Collective Coffeehouse. Learn about Graduate School of Education teaching programs at the Teacher Ed Info Session. Sophomores, learn about career tools and honors resources at your honors academic meeting. Get advice on how to stay motivated during a stressful time by reading this week’s Honors Blog post. The SASHP logo contest ends in a couple weeks: submit your design. Tell us about your college experience by submitting your Senior Spotlight.

I’m always relieved when things go according to plan. But when obstacles are thrown my way, I enjoy the exercise of thinking on my feet and treading a new path. SASHP understands that sometimes you just have to go where life takes you.

With warmest regards,
Julianna Rossano
Student Director of Honors Media

Advising Tip of the Week

“If you fail to plan, you plan to fail” - Dean Davis’s mother

Whichever mom quote you prefer, it’s time to plan. Registration opens at the end of the month. Plan to check in with your major advisor and honors advising dean in the coming weeks. Upcoming honors academic meetings for sophomores, juniors and seniors will feature lots of helpful planning resources as well.
