Dear SAS Honors Program Students,

It’s that time in the semester again: when the mid-term lingers beyond the actual middle of the term and everything is due all at once. It’s the same for us staff. You know what keeps us going in 35? Dad jokes. So I’ve integrated a few in this letter to spread some joy.

A quick tangent: I’m a big fan of fall food. Take the versatile pumpkin, for instance. It enhances lattes and bread. And when you divide the circumference of your jack-o-lantern by its diameter, you get pumpkin pi. Who doesn’t like a little dessert while studying? Be sure to save that tricky formula to your calculator for the next exam! Gosh, we’re clever.

We hope you will fall into some of these exciting upcoming programs. There are a few student theater productions around the corner, including Ten Blocks on the Camino Real and Cabaret. You have the write stuff to join the Artists Collective Writing Workshop. Talk about your academic goals and sip iced tea at Thirsty Thursday with Dean Kim-Lee. Challenge yourself and your friends at the Halloween Escape Room. Discuss studying abroad in Europe at Rutgers Global Conversations. Try your hand at designing a new SASHP logo or an academic space for the Big10 Student Design Challenge.

If you’re stressed, need sound advice, or want to pick your courses for next term, the SASHP advising deans are ready to help. We’re like the crossing gourds who help little pumpkins cross the road. Get it? Gourds? OK.

Although it’s a little chilly out, don’t underestimate the wellness benefits of taking a study break and standing outside for a bit. It will make you outstanding! OK. We’ll stop.

Have a great rest of the week and show those papers who’s boss!

Enjoy the day,

Dean Musu Davis

Ten Blocks on the Camino Real
The Rutgers Theater Company presents Tennessee Williams’ phantasmagorical play Ten Blocks on the Camino Real. Set in a plaza of a teeming tropical seaport, a young boxer stumbles into a world of figures from history and literature, artists and criminals, tyrants and idealists, the poetic and the banal in a fever dream. Tickets available at 35 College Ave (SASHP Main Office). Oct 27, 7:30 PM or Oct 28, 2 PM at Philip J. Levin Theater, College Ave Campus. Counts as an outside event for Honors Colloquium.

Artists Collective Writing Workshop
Do you have a hidden talent for writing? Discuss creative writing and do generative writing exercises with peers. Cookies will be served. Oct 29, 8 PM, 35 College Ave Parlor, College Ave Campus.

Thirsty Thursday with Dean Kim-Lee
Get to know your advising dean! Dean Kim-Lee will be offering iced tea and advising for this Thirsty Thursday event. Make a personal connection and get some excellent advice for your college career. Oct 25, 2 to 4 PM in McCormick Lounge, Busch Campus.
An Evening at the Theater
You are invited to attend an evening at the theater! The Livingston Theatre Company will be putting on a production of Cabaret. Nov 8, 8 PM, Livingston Student Center, Livingston Campus. For a complimentary ticket, email knagy@sas.rutgers.edu by Nov 2.

Halloween Escape Room
Can you escape in time for Halloweekend? The Peer Mentor Program is constructing an extra spooky Halloween escape room. Oct 29 and 30, 6 to 9 PM at 35 College Ave Parlor, College Ave Campus. Click here for more information and to sign up.

Happening @ 35: Rutgers Global
Are you interested in studying abroad? Visit the Honors Main Office for a Rutgers Global conversation with study abroad directors.
