

Set Up for Success

RUTGERS SASHP NEWSLETTER

Wednesday, November 7, 2018

Dear SAS Honors Program Students,

I hate to bring it up, but it's almost mid-November. My professors advised me to start thinking about my final projects. Maybe you should, too. The semester has flown by. It feels like I just started writing these newsletters a week ago. I know that I'll blink and it'll be time for me to submit three papers and two group projects. I like to start with baby steps, even if it's just coming up with an idea for my paper. It'll be one less worry when deadlines are closing in. Set yourself up for success now, because you never know how crazy life will be in a few short weeks.

When you're done preparing for the end of the semester, here are a few SASHP events that both entertain and instruct. Seniors: learn about career tools and planning for your last semester and beyond at your honors academic meeting this Friday. Have a night of fun at the Peer Mentor Program Mic & Cookies event. Network with other scientists at the Regeneron info session. Learn about a wide variety of science careers at the Alternative Science Careers Panel. Apply your innovative thinking to solving issues in the New Brunswick community at the Google Community Leaders Program Kickoff. Spend a relaxing night at McCormick watching Crazy Rich Asians. Submit a paper to the Rutgers Journal of Bioethics. Catch up on honors media by checking out the newest Alumni Spotlight and blog post.

I know it can be scary to think about the future. Here at the SASHP, we plan for success.

With warmest regards,
Julianna Rossano
Student Director of Honors Media

Campus Events

Alternative Science Careers Panel

Wondering what you can do with a science degree outside of medicine, the lab, or the classroom? Meet alumni who studied science and took their careers into interesting areas. There will be alumni working as the Predator Supervisor at Six Flags Great Adventure, a recruiter in the life sciences industry, a professional health educator, a dean from the School of Environmental and Biological Sciences, a vice president of marketing for an organization at the intersection of science, health, and technology, and others! There will be pizza and a chance to connect with alumni informally.

Nov 13, 6 - 9 PM at the Institute for Food, Nutrition, & Health rm 101, Cook Campus

Google Community Leaders Program

Do you want to network and apply your innovative thinking to solving issues in the New Brunswick community? The Google Community Leaders Program: New Brunswick will be hosting a Kickoff Event for its third annual Community Challenge at Rutgers! Click here to RSVP. Nov 9, 7 - 8:30 PM in Academic Building rm 2125, College Ave Campus.

RUTGERS UNIVERSITY, NEW BRUNSWICK

Crazy Rich Asians

Need another outside event for Honors Colloquium? Join your fellow honors students for a movie night at McCormick! This week's movie is Crazy Rich Asians, a film about a native New York professor traveling to Singapore to meet her boyfriend's rich family. It has been hailed as the highest grossing romantic comedy of the decade. Nov 9, 8 - 10 PM in McCormick Hall Lounge, Busch Campus. ***Counts as Honors Colloquium outside event.
