Monday, December 10, 2018

Dear SAS Honors Program Students,

Welcome to the last week of classes, also known as the longest week of your entire life. Maybe all of your finals are due these next few days, or maybe this marks the beginning of major study sessions every night. This is a difficult time, but it’s also a time that you’ll remember. You’ll remember the friends who stay up with you and help keep you motivated, the midnight breakfasts, and the last “good luck” texts before walking into an exam. After all - nothing brings people together quite like a shared struggle.

As finals draw near, make some time to have fun! Join the SASHP Peer Leaders in residence for some de-stress events. Get a head-start on your honors thesis by taking the course Intro to the Thesis. Become a leader in the SASHP community by applying to be a one-on-one tutor. Take our survey and tell us what kind of honors swag you want to see. Share what you’re doing this winter by applying to be a winter Instagram HIPster! Start preparing for a successful summer by looking at these New York Times internships and paid summer opportunities from Yleana Academy.

Be sure to surround yourself with people who help you be your best self. From all of us here at the SASHP, enjoy the last week of classes!

With warmest regards,
Julianna Rossano
Student Director of Honors Media
De-Stress Events
Join the SASHP Peer Leaders in residence for a night of relaxation before finals. There will be crafts, coloring, food, beverages, music, and more! Bring your friends! Dec 11, 9 – 11 PM in McCormick Hall, Busch Campus. Can't make it? The Peer Leader in Livingston North Tower is hosting a de-stressing brunch. Dec 13, 10:30 AM - 12 PM in the Livingston North Tower 8th Floor Lounge, Livingston Campus.

Intro to Thesis Course
Juniors: are you unsure what you want to study for your capstone project? Need a refresher on how to get ready for your research? Take the spring 2019 honors capstone prep course, Introduction to the Thesis (01:090:392), taught by the SASHP's very own Dean Musu Davis. This course is a 1-credit seminar for senior thesis planning. Meets on Wednesdays at 4:30 PM - 5:50 PM at CAC. Email honors@sas.rutgers.edu for a Special Permission Number to register.

Apply to be a SASHP One-on-One Tutor
Are you looking for a leadership opportunity? Apply to be part of the SASHP One-on-One Tutoring Program. Help another RU student master a course, improve your own critical thinking and sharpen your academic knowledge while volunteering your time to our campus community. Click here to apply (deadline Dec 21). Training for new tutors is in January 2019. Contact dpardun@sas.rutgers.edu with questions.

For a full calendar of events, visit www.sashonors.rutgers.edu
SASHP Merchandise
The SASHP is ordering new merchandise! Click here to take our survey and tell us what kind of swag you’d like to see.

Apply to be a Winter HIPster!
Are you going somewhere COOL this winter? Why not share your winter break experience with the SASHP! Take over our Instagram for a week and post about your adventures. Click here to apply.

New York Times Summer Internships
Have you decided what to do with your summer? Click here for a list of computer science summer internships for the New York Times. Deadline to apply is Dec 21, 5 PM.

Yleana Leadership Academy
The Yleana Leadership Academy is recruiting leaders for a transformative SAT summer camp. Leaders will support a program that is a mix of SAT boot camp, higher order thinking skills development, leadership academy, on-campus college experience, and traditional summer camp. They are looking for people who would be willing to work hard and have an amazing time creating a great summer experience for kids. Click here to apply.

For a full list of opportunities, click here.