Monday, April 22, 2019

Dear SAS Honors Program Students,

This weekend, I saw the LTC production of Guys and Dolls. I bought a ticket mostly because I had a friend in the pit band and I wanted to support her. The actors, actresses and musicians were all extremely talented, and I was blown away by the quality of the production. There was even a supportive group of students sitting behind me that cheered loudly for their friend, an actor. I sometimes forget how much I love musicals. Now that most of my free time is spent completing projects, studying for exams and writing papers, it's difficult to find the time and energy to go out after a long day spent working. But I’m glad I went. These are the experiences that I hope will stick with me once I graduate: nights of artistic performance and supporting a good friend.

Here are some fun events coming up. Join a conversation with the authors of For Colored Girls Who Have Considered Politics. Celebrate efforts to grow healthy, safe, and resilient urban and community forests at NJ State Arbor Day. Join the Artists Collective for an Origami Poetry Teller Workshop. See your peers present their exciting research at the Aresty Research Symposium. Read about the experiences of graduating senior Chakeema Cruickshank in this week's Senior Spotlight.

From all of us here at the SASHP, enjoy the week!

With warmest regards,
Julianna Rossano
Student Director of Honors Media
For Colored Girls Who Have Considered Politics
The Center for American Women in Politics invites you to a conversation with authors of For Colored Girls Who Have Considered Politics: Donna Brazile, Yolanda Caraway, Minyon Moore, and Leah D. Daughtry. April 29, 7 - 8 PM at Douglass Student Center. To RSVP, click here.

NJ State Arbor Day
Join the NJ Forest Service, the NJ Community Forestry Council, the NJ Tree Foundation, and the Rutgers Urban Forestry Program to celebrate efforts across the state to grow healthy, safe, and resilient urban and community forests! The ceremony will include winner of the NJUCF and Rutgers Urban Forestry campus photo contest, presentation of the J. Sterling Morton Award, and keynote address by Dr. Jason Grabosky of the Rutgers Urban Forestry Program. April 26, 11 AM across from the INFH Building, Cook Campus.

Artists Collective: Origami Poetry Teller Workshop
Remember origami fortune tellers you made when you were a kid? Join the Artists Collective for a chance to make one that tells poetry! Come with a poem of your own or be ready to write one. Supplies (and snacks) will be provided. For more information, contact Flannery at fmrollins@gmail.com. April 24, 4:30 - 5:30 PM at 35 College Ave (SASHP Main Office), College Ave Campus.
Senior Spotlight: Chakeema Cruickshank
Check out the SASHP Blog to read about Chakeema Cruickshank in this week’s Senior Spotlight. She is graduating with a degree in political science and minors in Spanish and international global studies. She is also an Eagleton Undergraduate Associate and a member of Zeta Phi Beta Sorority Inc. Read more about her advice, experiences, and plans for the future at rutgershonorsblog.wordpress.com.

Aresty Research Symposium
The Aresty Research Center for Undergraduates invites you to join in celebrating remarkable undergraduate researchers in the sciences, social sciences, humanities, and arts. The symposium features a variety of interesting topics shared by students through their research poster presentations. April 26, 10:30 AM - 3 PM at Livingston Student Center.
Counts as an Honors Colloquium outside event

For more opportunities, click here.