Dear SAS Honors Program Students,

Now that I'm wrapping up my junior year, I'm noticing that each semester flies by quicker than the last. It feels like only a few days ago that I was starting my fall semester classes and publishing my very first newsletter. I've had an amazing year working for the SASHP and getting to know other honors students and mentors. As our year comes to an end, I'd like to thank a few members of the SASHP Media Team. Big thanks to blog editor Raaga Rambhatla for all her hard work! And a huge thank you to digital historian Tyler Farnsworth for being a part of the team, making fun and inspiring videos, and teaching the rest of us a few life lessons along the way. I'd also like to welcome Jusleen Basra as the new blog editor and ImaniNia Burton as digital historian. I usually find it difficult to say goodbye, but I know those who are leaving are going on to a bright future.

Here are some fun opportunities to round out the semester. Practice your leadership skills this summer by applying to be an ODASIS writing instructor! Help out your fellow RU students by becoming a Peer Tutor for next year. Apply to the Grossman Interdisciplinary Research Team Fellowships for a unique research opportunity. In case you haven't heard, Dean Jones will be stepping down as academic dean of the SASHP. Thank you for all your hard work, Dean Jones! Read about the experiences of Bailey Lawrence and Faith Lee in the newest Senior Spotlight! Are you looking to become more involved in the SASHP next year? Apply to join our Video Team or to become a Blog Staff Writer!

From all of us here at the SASHP, congratulations to freshmen completing their first year! Congratulations to graduating seniors! And congratulations to everyone else for succeeding in another year here at RU!

With warmest regards,
Julianna Rossano
Student Director of Honors Media

SASHP Move-in Team!
Welcome new Honors Program students to campus by assisting them with move-in! We need 10 students to form an SASHP team. Student volunteers can move in early and get a free t-shirt. Click here to register.
ODASIS Writing Instructor
Are you looking to give back to your community this summer? The Office for Diversity and Academic Success in the Sciences (ODASIS) is hiring! Apply to be an ODASIS Expository Writing Preparation Instructor! Program runs from June 30 - August 2. For more information, email jonathan.langowski@dls.rutgers.edu.

Peer Tutor Application
Are you interested in helping fellow RU students succeed in their classes? Apply to be a Peer Tutor! It's a 2 hour per week commitment for the fall 2019 semester, you make your own schedule, and comprehensive training is provided. Click here to apply!

Grossman Interdisciplinary Research Team Fellowships
The Grossman Interdisciplinary Research Team (GIRT) is accepting applications. Specific projects recruiting students are Designing Tour for Visually Impaired Audiences at the RU Geology Museum, Modeling Crowd Diversity to Design Inclusive Environments, RU Science Explorer Station: the on-campus tour experience, and The Missing Bones. Click here for more information and to apply (deadline May 10).

Thank You, Dean Jones!
In case you haven’t heard, Dean Jones will be stepping down as an academic dean of the SASHP and returning full-time to the RU history faculty. Dean Jones has been a wonderful member of the honors staff. She leads the SASHP student advisory board, and can always bring a smile to a student’s face. With her extra time, she intends to finish writing her latest book! In the fall she plans to teach an honors seminar on French fashion and will remain an honors faculty mentor. Thanks for all your hard work, Dean Jones!
Senior Spotlight: Faith Lee
This week we have a double feature! Read about Faith Lee in this week's Senior Spotlight. She is graduating with degrees in French and medieval studies, a minor in education, and a civic scholar certificate. She is also a SASHP Senior Leader Awardee and program coordinator at the Conversation Tree. Read more about her advice, experiences, and plans for the future at rutgershonorsblog.wordpress.com.

Senior Spotlight: Bailey Lawrence
Check out the SASHP Blog to read about Bailey Lawrence in this week's Senior Spotlight. He is graduating with a degree in history and a minor in Spanish. He is also a SASHP Senior Leader Awardee and a member of Phi Beta Kappa and Phi Alpha Theta honor societies. Read more about his advice, experiences, and plans for the future at rutgershonorsblog.wordpress.com.
