Dear SAS Honors Program Students,

We’re in the home stretch: spring break is just around the corner. Never underestimate the power of nice weather! It’ll be warming up this week, and fresh air and sunlight should give us new energy to get through classes. It’ll put a spring in your step. Next thing you know, we’ll be relaxing during our well-earned week off from classes.

Here are some upcoming events and opportunities. Join the SASHP for a movie night featuring Her. The Honors Peer Mentors invite you to attend a S’mores Mixer. Interested in big data? Check out the Data Science Panel. Give back to your community by signing up to join the SASHP team in the Scarlet Day of Service. Reserve a complimentary ticket for the Livingston Theater Company production of Mamma Mia!

From all of us at the SASHP, enjoy the day!

With warmest regards,
Julianna Rossano
Student Director of Honors Media
Movie Night: Her
Join the SASHP for an Honors Movie Night! There will be a showing of the 2013 film Her, a science-fiction romantic drama about a man who falls in love with his artificially intelligent virtual assistant. March 10, 8:30 PM in Jameson H, Douglass Campus. Counts as an Honors Colloquium outside event.
