Monday, March 28, 2016

Dear fellow SASHPers,

It’s cold, glum, and gray outside--just the kind of weather you need to stay in and read the SAS Honors Newsletter! This week, I’ve got just a few announcements and a bounty of Campus Events that might interest you. Check them out below!

Have you been reading the SAS Honors Blog?
Last week, Nida shared a secret about overlooked pathways in "Hidden Tunnels 'Round Busch Campus", while Fairooz recalled her spontaneous trip to Canada over spring break in "Keeping it Mont(real)".

Deadline Highlights
Be sure to check out deadlines for various scholarship opportunities we shared a few weeks ago, listed below. Also, the application to be a SAS Honors Peer Mentor ends on Thursday, March 31st!

Share your Honors event pictures with us!
Did you take a picture of an Honors event and now have nowhere to put it? Send it our way to This email address is being protected from spambots. You need JavaScript enabled to view it. Please include your name, the event name and date, and the names of people featured. Please note that it may be featured on SAS Honors social media, including the Facebook, Instagram, and Twitter.

Like our Facebook Page for Newsletter Updates!
If you haven't already, like us on Facebook to stay updated on various Honors events and opportunities. You might even discover something you’d like to try out! Last week, we shared pictures on one of our SASHP Global Experience trips over spring break. There’s no denying that we learned a lot from our Mayan adventures through Yucatan, Mexico, and most of all, had fun!

That's all for this week! Hope you all have a warm and dry day!

Sincerely,
Stacey Damito
Student Director of Honors Media

---

Honors Announcements

Apply to be an SAS Honors Peer Mentor

Apply to be an SAS Honors Program Peer Mentor!
The deadline to apply is Thursday, March 31.

Be a part of this great opportunity to share what you've learned with the Class of 2020! The SASHP Peer Mentor Program matches new SASHP students with current students who volunteer to serve as Peer Mentors.

More information about the program can be found at the SASHP Peer Mentor webpage. Contact This email address is being protected from spambots. You need JavaScript enabled to view it. with inquiries!

We are also looking for creative and enthusiastic leaders to serve on the Peer Mentor Programming Board. Programming Board Leaders work as a team to help plan, coordinate, and market Peer Mentor events, as well as run the Peer Mentor Facebook page.

All Mentors must attend a mandatory one-hour introductory session in April. Mentors and Mentees are matched this summer and have an opportunity to meet at the Peer Mentor/Mentee Summer Kick-Off!

Apply by Thursday, March 31 at https://secure.sas.rutgers.edu/apps/forms/mentor/.

This Week’s Tea with the Dean: Professional Etiquette

Thursday, March 31 at 4:30PM
SASHP Main Office, 35 College Ave

Professional Etiquette: Your Questions Answered!
Nancy Mark, Johnson & Johnson, Director, invites you to bring your questions related to any professional etiquette topic that is on your mind! Topics may include social media, emails, dress codes, electronic devices, meetings (face-to-face and virtual), generational differences in the workplace and social events.

Nancy Mark has a proven track record in developing strategies for start-ups, integrations and new capabilities in a global, matrix organization as well as developing large, high performing teams. She co-teaches a Rutgers Byrne Seminar on Leadership for first-year students and has developed and taught the Advancing Community Development undergraduate course for The Collaborative Center for Community-Based Research and Service.

Campus Events

Jewish Scholars and the Study of Islam

From the 1830s to the 1930s, Jewish scholars played a major role in the development of the nascent field of Islamic Studies in Europe, describing Islam in highly positive terms, as the religion closest to Judaism. Dr. Susannah Heschel, Dartmouth College, will discuss their contributions to the field, the very different kind of "Orientalism" their work promoted, and the influence of their studies on modern Jewish self-understanding. RSVP requested to: This email address is being protected from spambots. You need JavaScript enabled to view it. or 848-932-2033.

Date: Monday, March 28 at 7:30 PM
Location: Douglass Student Center, Trayes Hall, Douglass Campus
Contact: This email address is being protected from spambots. You need JavaScript enabled to view it.

Social and Behavioral Sciences Dean's Distinguished Keynote: Psychology

Greg Hajcak, Professor of Psychology, SUNY Stony Brook, discusses "Depression and (in)sensitivity to emotion: Perspectives from affective neuroscience."

Dr. Hajcak’s work focuses on understanding how people respond to motivationally salient events and information— and whether individual differences in these responses might serve as concomitants of, and markers of risk for, affective psychopathology (i.e., anxiety disorders and depression). Part of the Social and Behavioral Sciences Dean's 2016 Distinguished Lectureship series.

Date: Tuesday, March 29 at 2:00 PM
Location: Life Sciences Bldg, Auditorium, Busch Campus
Contact: This email address is being protected from spambots. You need JavaScript enabled to view it.

Campus Opportunities

Summer Jobs on Campus Available

Need a summer job? Want to work on Rutgers campus? Then consider applying for a position with Rutgers Institutional Planning and Operations!

There are 90 positions available
Get $10 per hour, 40 hours a week, daytime shifts and limited evening shifts available
Job duties may include housekeeping, general maintenance, moving furniture, and painting

See https://jobs.rutgers.edu/postings/22559 to apply. For questions, please call 848-445-2827.

DEADLINE EXTENDED - Apply for the Rutgers-Eagleton Washington Internship Award Program

Rutgers undergraduates from all campuses and all majors are encouraged to apply for the Rutgers-Eagleton Washington Internship Awards. The program provides one-time $5,000 grants to outstanding undergraduates for summer internships in the government/public service/nonprofit sectors in Washington, D.C.

The grant is intended to assist with living expenses to ease the financial burden associated with working in Washington. Six awards will be distributed for summer 2016. Learn more here.

Applications
The application period has been open since February 15, 2016. Completed applications are due by the extended deadline, Monday, March 28 at 5:00PM. All applications must be submitted via the online form.

READ MORE
An archive of this and past newsletters can be found here.