Dear School of Arts and Sciences Honors Program Students,

Welcome Class of 2021 and welcome back upperclassmen!

Phew, time flies when you're having fun and those summer nights just rushed past. Hopefully we all kept cool and took some time to rest, but now it is that time and we're back live and in color with your weekly SAS Honors Program Newsletter.

Another fall, another school year, and another windfall of events and opportunities to take advantage of and we’ve got some exciting things this week that will help you make the most of the coming semester:

- Need help academically? Take a look at Scheduling 101 with our Peer Mentors and the Drop-In Office Hours that SAS Honors Deans are having all week.
- Already worried about giving your resume boost? Look at the applications to be an One-on-One Tutor or Blogger for the Honors Program.
- Need something to fill the large amounts of free time you have during syllabus week? Try one of the many Welcome Week events held all over or maybe reading about the summer of some fellow honors students on the SASHP blog.

As for the rest of the semester, there’ll be a newsletter every week to keep you up to date on the happenings in the honors program and around the university. This year we’ll also include personal shout outs, see below for more information. For even more news, announcements, and fun you can follow the SAS Honors Program on Facebook, Twitter, and Instagram, all linked below.

In the meantime, have a wonderful week and try to make the most of all that Rutgers has to offer.

Courteously,
Kim Peterman
Student Director of Honors Media

Honors Events

Peer Mentor & Mentee Fall Kick-off and Scheduling 101

Celebrate the first week back in school with your mentor/mentee, ice cream, and some arcade games at the Rutgers Zone on Livingston Campus from 4-6PM. If you can stick around afterward, head down the hall to the Livingston Student Center Gathering Lounge for Scheduling 101 with the Peer Mentors and cookies! But really, if you have any questions about Add/Drop or registration, our Peer Mentors are a great resource for answers.

Date: Thursday, September 7, 4-6PM and 6-7 PM
Place: Rutgers Zone and Livingston Student Center Gathering Lounge

Road to Wall Street

The Rutgers Road to Wall Street Program is designed to boost the interview and technical skills of a select group of approximately 50 sophomores who demonstrate strong interest in and knowledge of the financial markets. Participation in the program requires completion of four Wall Street seminars offered in the fall semester that focus on the initial steps necessary to prepare for the interview process, as well as a three-credit Road to Wall Street Financial Modeling and Market Analytics course taught in the spring term.

Participants are also paired with an alumni mentor currently working on Wall Street who will provide invaluable guidance and networking contacts for the duration of the program.

Following the establishment of the program 4 years ago, there has been substantial growth in the number of junior internship placements for Rutgers undergraduates. Rutgers New Brunswick and Newark undergraduate students with an interest in the financial markets and Wall Street careers are encouraged to apply for this exciting program.

The application is due September 25, 2017
The application can be found here.
